

Otto Bock HealthCare Adds Size 2 Option for Popular KIWI Pediatric Wheelchair & New Color Option for the Kimba

MINNEAPOLIS, MN - Otto Bock HealthCare, a leader in the mobility and rehabilitation industry, has introduced a new feature option for its low weight, high design KIWI pediatric wheelchair. Now available is a Size 2 option to accommodate larger kids.

Offering a seat depth of up to 11 inches and a width of 12.6 inches, the Size 2 option retains its popular style and ease of handling, as well as the convenient reversible seat and handle bar feature which allows caregivers to interact with the child while positioning the wheels to optimally cover different terrain.

“Our focus is always on finding ways to improve the quality of life for those who use our products,” said Jason Curtis, Senior Market Manager for Otto Bock’s Mobility Solutions. “This new feature is in direct response to market demand, and we are pleased to have the opportunity to serve and positively impact the lives of even more children.”

Another new offering from Otto Bock is the color option of pink for the best-selling Kimba line of pediatric wheelchairs. The original color choices of orange, blue and green also remain available.
